PITTSBURGH, July 30, 2008 – bit-x-bit, LLC, is pleased to announce that it has received a grant from the Pittsburgh Central Keystone Innovative Zone (PCKIZ) to help fund expansion and hiring at its new offices located in the historic Frick Building in downtown Pittsburgh.

PCKIZ, one of Pennsylvania's statewide "innovative zones," was created to encourage new technology companies to locate in certain designated areas in Pittsburgh's central downtown district. Founding partners Duquesne University and Hill House Economic Development Corporation support PCKIZ's efforts to champion new technology businesses, like bit-x-bit, LLC, located in the "zone."

"We are grateful for the generous support of PCKIZ," said Susan Ardisson, Esq., CEO of bit-x-bit. "The nearly $19,000 grant will allow us to purchase the necessary workstations for new employees, a new server, and data storage capability for the expansion of our forensic laboratory," said Ardisson.

In addition to the grant award, PCKIZ funded a summer office intern for bit-x-bit through Duquesne University.

About bit-x-bit, LLC: Endorsed by the Allegheny County Bar Association, bit-x-bit's forensic and e-discovery services include: capture of all business documents, recovery of deleted information, hard drive imaging, back-up tape restoration, establishment of in-house e-discovery processing and review capabilities, and forensic investigations of computer use and misuse. A bit by bit image of a hard disk is an exact replica of the 1s and 0s written to the drive. The goal of the forensic investigator and e-discovery process is to capture all electronically stored information in an unaltered and forensically sound manner. Our name, bit-x-bit, derives from this process and represents our commitment to providing comprehensive and professional services.
